PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 4, 1833.

THE WARREN CONVENTION.—The following paragraph is from the last Mercer Press—

"The proposed convention at Warren, Ohio, has materially changed its character. When first agitated by the Pittsburgh Gazette, the object was stated to be for the purpose of collecting a mass of information relative to the resources, capability, trade, &c. &c. of the country bordering on the Lake, and was to have nothing whatever to do with routs. Such, at least, was our understanding. That unobjectionable aspect, however, has been changed by the Warren meeting—the first public meeting held on the subject—and the avowed object now is, to take measures to secure the opening of the cross cut canal, from Newcastle to the Portage Summit."

The editor of the Press is right—the first proposition for a Convention, at Warren, was made by us; and our suggestion was, that the friends of a junction, without reference to any particular rout, should assemble, to collect a mass of information, so as to be enabled to present the subject in an imposing shape to the legislatures of the two States. Our suggestion was, however, scouted at, by the friends of a canal to Erie, and treated with silence by the friends of the two southern routs of connection.

The Warren people, however, took the matter up, and moulded it into such a shape as they supposed would suit them best.—We are well pleased that they have done so—the Convention has concentrated public attention to one point, and we now confidently trust that it will be productive of good.

We think it proper to mention this matter, because some remarks, in relation to the restricted objects of the proposed Convention, have been made. The citizens of Warren at once expressed their approbation of our proposition; they then waited until they found that no other county would unite with them; and, finally, they adopted those measures which have led to the proposed Convention, of the 13th instant.

COMMUNICATED.

A Missionary Meeting will be held in the 1st Presbyterian Church of this city, on this evening, at six o'clock, to organize the Missionary family going to the Weas tribe of Indians, west of the Mississippi.

Those Members of the Young Men's Society of Pittsburgh and vicinity, who as yet have been but nominal, are informed that a meeting of special interest will be held to morrow evening, the 5th inst., in the Society's Room, at half past 6 o'clock. It is hoped that punctual attendance will be given.

HARRISBURG CHRONICLE.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Harrisburg Chronicle will contain a concise and faithful report of the proceedings and debates of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, which will commence its session on the first Tuesday of December next.—The senior editor will report in one of the legislative branches, and an experienced and competent Reporter is engaged to attend in the other. Such reports will be furnished as are calculated to put our readers in possession of a History of the Session in 1833-4—to do which, the faculty of condensation shall be employed for the benefit of the reader, even though it may sometimes be unpleasant to the legislator; for the topics that must, of course, come up for discussion, will be more numerous, important, and diversified than they have been heretofore, and there is every probability that the exciting questions that must necessarily be agitated in Congress, will also become exciting questions in the Legislature of the State, and add to the interest of the Session.

The proceedings of the Legislature of the State are full of interest to the citizen, and an intimate acquaintance with them is almost an indispensable requisite, when he comes forward on election day to exercise his sovereignty in the capacity of a voter. Hence every citizen ought to possess a fair and faithful report of the proceedings, and it is hoped that those who do not take the Chronicle, will take some other paper for this purpose.

Terms.—For the Session, alone,
twice a week, in advance, $2 00
For the whole year, in advance, $3 00

☞Persons furnishing six subscribers, and enclosing Ten Dollars, shall have a seventh copy forwarded regularly for their trouble.

Harrisburg, Oct. 28, 1833.

From the Baltimore American.

In regarding the present unfortunate state of affairs in Alabama, attention should be steadily fixed upon the true grounds of controversy. We have looked carefully through the correspondence, as published, and believe the following to be the facts out of which the dispute, in its present shape, has arisen:

It is admitted that the lands in question are the property of the United States, but that certain Indians are entitled to reservations, to be hereafter located. What degree of property they will then have in them, is not precisely agreed upon, nor is it material to the present state of the question. Until the selections are made, the whole is vested in the United States, and after they are made, all besides is, indisputably, public property.

Upon these lands, numerous settlers have entered, and made improvements, as in the case of other public lands. Were there no additional facts, the case of these settlers would be that of all other settlers without title. Although strictly trespassers, ab initio, and liable to be expelled at once, they would be looked upon as has been the just policy of the government in all like cases, as meritorious objects of indulgence and favor.—Their enterprise in reducing wild lands to cultivation, and thus improving both the public resources generally, and particularly the value of the unseated public lands, would make them, when they act obediently to the laws, proper objects for the bounty of government, even when admitting the want of legal title or technical claims. Acts extending this favor to such occupants have been frequent, but the very frequency of them confesses the necessity of relaxing in particular instances the rigor of a general law, which it is not deemed advisable to repeal altogether. The acts for indulgence have all expired, and the general law of right remains. Unless, therefore, a similar special act should renew it to the Alabama settlers, they stand in the light of trespassers, without color of title, and liable to be expelled at the pleasure of the government, the acknowledged owner of the lands.

The withholding of such an act might be deemed capricious and unwise, but neither illegal, nor, strictly speaking, unjust. But other circumstances are alleged to exist, which place these settlers in a different position from ordinary intruders. A treaty of the United States stipulates that they shall be removed. Without title from the beginning, and relying, at best, on the indulgence of the United States, they have warning, that paramount claims, under the law and the Constitution, prevent the United States from having the power to extend to them the customary gratuity. Whatever may be contended for in opposition to the mode in which this treaty stipulation is proposed to be carried into effect, it is not denied that it forms an equitable obligation towards the Indians. If the treaty be no more than an agreement between the Creeks and the United States, it is sufficient to impose an additional moral duty to protect them, at least to the extent of previous laws. The settlers had no right before, and looked for acts of favor, to enable them to remain;—it surely does not strengthen their right that a public stipulation was made by the United States, not to grant that favor, but to adhere to the stricter letter of the law.

These facts are admitted. Indeed, Governor Gayle, in his Correspondence, takes pains to show that the Creek settlers have no title, and pretend to none. He urges, on the contrary, that their having a color of title would make the necessity of their expulsion more clear, and justify the proceedings of Government. He says that the law under which the expulsion is now directed was made expressly to enable the Federal government to expel, "by military force," persons claiming adversely to the United States—and hence argues the tyranny of using the same means to expel those who do not pretend to any right at all! Did they claim any legal right of possession, he seems to think that they might be turned out lawfully without objection!

What then, it is asked, do these settlers insist upon? They confess the trespass, admit the right of the United States, and do not deny the fact of the treaty stipulation to remove them. What claim do they set up to keep possession? On reading the whole case carefully, we confess we are unable to find any argument, except the hardship of being denied the favor that other settlers on other public lands have received. The hardship is undoubtedly great, to those who acted in good faith, and in ignorance of the imperative circumstances under which the favor is denied. Some popular meetings, held in these counties, have, indeed, gone so far as to contend that the State jurisdiction over the territory gives the State a right to the unappropriated lands;—but the State makes no such assertion, and individuals can hardly benefit by it. Of the right of these individuals to remain, there are, so far as we have found, no advocates.

The threatened controversy, therefore, springs from the effort of the Governor to protect these settlers by the power of the State, in a possession confessedly illegal, against the owner whose rights are admitted. Governor Gayle, however, does not put his case upon these grounds. He has objections to the mode in which the United States exercise their rights, under the act of 1807, and the treaty of 1832. Of the policy of the administration in the matter we have nothing to say. It is a point beyond the design of this article. We may, however, suggest one observation upon the Governor's argument, which struck us forcibly on reading his letter. He insists that the disputed questions are fit subjects for a judicial investigation, and should be determined by Courts, not by the use of force. The reply which rises immediately is, that there is no possible question for a Court to decide. The facts are admitted, the law is admitted, the United States are admitted to have the right of possession—what judicial question can arise? Where there is an adverse possession, under the color of title, on which a question of law might arise, Governor Gayle expressly charges that the Act of 1807 can be applied without the intervention of judicial tribunals, yet he insists upon their right to decide, where there is no question to be decided.

The new Attorney General of the United States, P. V. Daniel, of Virginia.—The Richmond Whig, who knows his man, thus describes this new member of the present Unit. It was the saying of a great Virginian, on Gen. Jackson's accession to the Presidency, and the choice of the members of the first Unit, "that the Government had fallen into the hands of third rate attorneys." It is now, at each remove, getting a little lower; and as soon as Mr. McLane—for whom our respect exceedeth not, yet who is certainly far above those of the Kitchen who claim to be his peers, and are, in fact, as to influence, his superiors—and Gov. Cass, whom we do respect, though we could wish nature or circumstances had made him a little less pliant—as soon, we say, as these individuals are, as they will be, driven out, the reign of the underlings will be complete. Happy country! that even such functionaries cannot ruin, though they do degrade her.—New York Amer.

"Had the President sent messengers to all of the county courts in this State, there is not one, we undertake to say, in which he would not have found some one practitioner at least equal to Mr. Daniel, and in seven cases out of ten, greatly superior. His standing is not, nor never was, higher than that of a third rate county court lawyer, and many who have heard his speeches doubt his title to stand even thus high. His newspaper essays alone will convince any man who will undergo the reading of them, a job which we admit is none of the least formidable, of his utter incapacity to fill this office, in which he will be forced into contact with the giants of the land. What sort of a defence of the interests of the United States, can Mr. Peter V. Daniel make against such men as Webster, Sergeant, McDuffie, and Clay, when he is scarcely a match for many of our county court lawyers? He will be ground into powder at the very outset of the struggle.

It is only those who live in the same city with him, and who know the calibre of his understanding, that can estimate the flagrant partiality of this appointment. We should imagine, with all due deference to the superior wisdom of the Kabinet, that the office to which he is raised, would require the best talents of the land. Mr. Monroe was of that opinion when he bestowed it upon Mr. Wirt, and Gen. Jackson seems to have entertained the same sentiment when he called Judge Berrien to that important post. The citizens of Richmond will laugh to think of seeing Peter V. Daniel in an office, the duties of which all the ability of these great men was requisite to enable them to discharge with fidelity.—Richmond Whig.

First Fruits.—The National Intelligencer, adverting to the threatened resistance of Alabama to the federal authorities, makes this statement concerning a mission to the Creek Indians in Alabama, backed by notes of the Bank of the Metropolis, instead of notes on the Bank of the United States, or rather a draft on the nearest branch.—The Indians, to be sure, wont know the difference till they want to spend their money, and then they will find that a bank of metropolis dollar, and a bank of U. States dollar, are two things very dissimilar. What then? Why, we dare say, the Kitchen will have on the spot its agents to buy bank notes, as it is more than suspected it has had at other Indian negotiations, for buying lands.—N. Y. Amer.

"The Government, we dare say, is exerting itself to adjust the present difficulty in a manner compatible at once with its own credit and the public peace. An agent, an officer of rank and discretion, left the city lately for Alabama, with a large sum of money, to be disbursed, we understand, amongst the Indians; but whether in any way connected with the dispute, or to operate immediately or remotely in its adjustment, we do not know. Whatever the object of the mission, we hope it may not be thwarted by the kind of money which, according to the new arrangement of the public funds, or by the special order of the Secreary of the Treasury, he was obliged to take with him. But we fear he will find that the notes of the favored Bank of the Metropolis, which he carried, will not be received as readily as would those of the proscribed Bank of the United States. This may be cited as one of the mischievous effects of the transfer of the public money to the local banks, not to say any thing of the danger of carrying so large a mass of bank notes such a journey through the country, instead of taking a draft on a neighboring Branch of the Bank of the United States, and drawing the money on the spot, without the trouble or danger of transportation, as might have been the case, had the funds of the Government remained in that institution.—Nat. Intelligencer, Oct. 26.

BRITISH NAVY IN 1833.—According to a Parliamentary Return, His Majesty's ships and vessels in commissions, at the commencement of the present year, consisted of five first rates, whose joint complements amounted to 2,910 men; two second rates, 844 men; four third rates, 2,358 men; five fourths rates, 225 men; ten fifth rates, 2,799 men; fourteen sixth rates, 2,409 men; thirty five sloops, 3,685 men; thirty three yachts, surveying vessels, brig sloops, &c., 1,593 men; thirteen steam vessels, 464 men; and twenty six packets, 754 men. The total amount of wages for the officers and men employed, 22,500 in number, including twelve flag officers, one Commodore, 99 secretaries, servants, &c. and 2,421 men for reliefs, was 687,375*l.* Pay of able seamen, 11s 14d. per lunar month.

BRITISH ARMY IN 1833.—At the same period the Millitary forces stationed in our Colonies were as follows:—Cape of Good Hope, 1,725 officers and men; Gibraltar, 2,875; Malta, 2,366; Ionian Islands, 2,889; Canadas, 2,417; Western Africa, 255; Nova Scotia and Bermuda, 3,222; Windward and Leeward Colonies, 4,432; Jamaica, Bahamas, and Honduras, 3,122; Mauritius, 1,445; Ceylon, 3,547; New South Wales and in its dependencies, 2,539. Total, 30,855.—In Great Britain there were 5,731 Cavalry, 4,452 Foot Guards, and 18,569 Infantry. Total, 28,772. In Ireland, 2,626 Cavalry, 745 Foot Guards, and 19,428 Infantry.—Total, 22,799. In the East Indies, 2,663 Cavalry, and 15,701 Infantry—making a grand total of 100,790.

Compte de Survilliers.—We learn, from a friend who has recently received letters from Joseph Napoleon, says the Philadelphia Gazette, that this distinguished personage may be expected to return from England in the course of the ensuing spring. The speculation of the British journalists, in relation to his designs with respect to government in France, are mainly gratuitous. His children have recently reached him; his lady continues in Italy, in a very delicate state of health. She has been for some time an invalid. The ex king, it is said, is heartily tired of England. This feeling is not to be wondered at. He cannot drive from his mind the reflection that he receives, while in Great Britain, the attentions of a power that destroyed the hopes, and dissolved the splendid fortunes, of his imperial brother. He must continually bethink himself, in such a position, of Waterloo and Longwood, of Wellington and Lowe. We ought to ask pardon of the reader, however, for mentioning the two last names in connection. Despite the defence of Walter Scott, we cannot but look upon Lowe as do the chief members of the British military and naval establishments—with disdain for his impetuous littleness and cruelty. While the achievements of that great captain whose decline he poisoned, are on record, for the world, his injustice will descend with them in shameful juxtaposition.

Culture of Silk.—At the late Bristol Agricultural exhibition, four premiums were awarded for the white mulberry tree—and the whole number of trees entered for the premiums, was over 70,000.

We are glad that the farmers of Massachusetts are turning their attention to the culture of Silk—and we doubt not that they will be encouraged to persist in this praiseworthy undertaking. Mulberry trees can be scattered about a farm, without interfering with the growth of any other plant or vegetable. They may be planted by the side of the fences—around the house, or in the garden, where they make beautiful hedges. For six weeks in the year the girls and boys can devote a part of their time to rearing the silk worms. It will be an interesting occupation for them. Any out house will be suitable for that purpose. In this way every farmer may, if he pleases, raise from ten to fifteen pounds of cocoons without being at any additional expense.

It is thus that the silk is raised in the Southo f France and in Italy. Every husbandman attends in a greater or a less degree to the cultivation of the Mulberry tree, and the rearing of the silk worm—and it is thus that we hope to see it, ere long, cultivated in New England.—Lowell Jour.

The New York Evening Star says, it appears to be settled beyond dispute that Judge Wayne, of Georgia, has been selected as the Regency candidate for Speaker of the next Congress. Mr. Polk, of Tennessee, will, it is thought, be the strongest opposing candidate.—Atlas.

On the question of the next Presidency, says Major Noah, we hazard nothing in saying that the whole south will be united.

Cotton in Florida.—By a statement, in the last Floridian, we perceive that a great increase in the production of cotton is taking place every year.—From two ports in Middle Florida, St. Marks and Magnolia, in 1825, sixty four bales were shipped. In the year from the 1st of July, 1832, to the 1st of July, 1833, nine thousand six hundred and seventy five bales were shipped from the same ports. This fact speaks for itself.

Epidemic Suicide.—Dr. Burrows speaks of a particular district on the continent, where, in the army, suicide actually became an epidemic disease. The commander, finding that he lost some of his best soldiers by this unprofitable warfare, ordered the next half dozen, who should commit the act, to be hung in some neighboring town, and exposed to the gaze of their former comrades. The remedy completely succeeded, and the soldiers immediately ceased to play the game of killing themselves.—Ewins on Mental Diseases.

A Compliment to our Country Women.—Messrs. Beaumont and Toqueville, in their report on the Penitentiary system in the United States state a fact in the highest degree creditable to the female portion of our population. "Out of one hundred prisoners, in the U. States, we find but four women, whilst with us, in France, there are twenty in a hundred."

Two jurors were fined ten dollars each in the Superior Court of North Carolina, for having fallen asleep during a trial which was to be submitted to their consideration. Their happy insensibility was not discovered until the other ten jurors had retired.

Latest News From Portugal!

We are again indebted to arrivals at Boston, for the latest intelligence from Portugal. Captain Smith, who left Lisbon on the 15th, and the Tagus on the 17th ultimo, gives information that no general attack had been made by either party since the 5th, but that frequent skirmishing had taken place. It appears, from the tenor of the advices, that the force of Don Pedro within the capital was too weak to make an attack without the city, and yet too strong to warrant an attack upon him within, by his usurping opponent. Similar to his is the case with Don Miguel—he is too weak to force his way into the capital with any prospect of success, and yet too strong, in his external position, to fear an attack without the walls. In this attitude, a petty warfare may be carried on for a long period, without any decisive results; and in the mean time the fair face of Portugal must be marred, and her resources exhausted; by this fraternal discord. Don Pedro has possession of the city of Lisbon and the forts, with an open water communication; and Don Miguel possesses the suburbs—the former is sustained by his naval supplies, and the latter by the influence of the priesthood. A party of Miguelites obtained possession of a convent on the east side of the city on the evening of the 12th, but the next morning were dislodged by a frigate that anchored in the river, and fired upon it, killing about 150 of them, and dispersing the remainder.

Unless it draws after it the intervention of the Great Powers of Europe, in settling the 'war of principle,' the issue of this contest must be decided by the capitalists of London, or the devotees of the Pope.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Abyssinia.—Letters have been received in Frankfort, from Dr. Rupple, a traveler in Abyssinia, under date of Gondar, February 14. They state that, after a perilous journey, he went from Massuah, on the Abyssinian frontier, to the ice mountains of Sunen, where he passed the rainy season, an elevation of 10,000 feet above the level of the sea. He went thence to Gondar, where he remained four months, and it was not without danger that he afterwards left it. During his residence there, the place was three times menaced with capture, and the richest quarter of it was, on one occasion, actually pillaged. He however set out alone for the country denominated Coulla, lying to the north of Gondar. Several new species of quadrupeds and birds have already been discovered, and his collection of specimens in various departments of natural history is very large.—Poulson.

Snow.—On Tuesday afternoon and evening last, the snow fell in this place about six inches deep. The ground is still covered, and the weather cold and boisterous. The navigation on the Lake this fall has been extremely unpleasant and hazardous, and the weather has been but little more propitious to the farmer. Most of the corn and potatoes are still out.—Erie Gazette, Oct. 30.

On Tuesday evening last, the Pittsburgh stage, on its way to Mercer, was upset, about six miles below this place, and one passenger Mr. Fisher, father of the celebrated Miss Clara Fisher, was much injured; he will be able shortly to proceed to Pittsburgh where he expects to meet his daughter. We have not heard the circumstances attending the accident, but learn that it originated from the carelessness of the driver.—Crawford Messenger, November 1.

Scene on Boston Common.—Crossing the common on Saturday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, our attention was attracted by a large collection of boys—say from two to three hundred—divided into two parties, and who at first we thought were playing at foot ball. On approaching them nearer, however, we found, very much to our astonishment and regret, that they were pelting each other in right good earnest, with stones, brick bats, or any missile they could lay their hands upon. We were informed, on inquiry, that the combatants belonged to two different schools, and were thus settling an ancient grudge that had long existed between them.

What the number of killed and wounded was on this occasion, we did not stop to inquire, but have no doubt that some blood was spilled; and we sincerely hope that these disgraceful scenes will be put a stop to by the city authorities—for, besides being very dangerous to the parties concerned, the safety of all those who happen to be passing at the time, many of whom are ladies, as well as the peace, quiet, and character of our city, are not a little jeoparded.—Bost. Gazette.

A St. John (N. F.) paper of the 20th ult., relates the following particulars of the dangers and delays of a voyage from Cork to that port, which, if it came from a less satisfactory source, would appear almost incredible. The annals of the trade, says the St. John writer, cannot, we believe, furnish a second instance of a vessel having been driven by the ice a distance of nine hundred miles from her tract:—

The Schooner Maria Eliza, Captain Hughes, which arrived here on Saturday last, from Cork, via Greenland, has been a missing vessel for some months past. She sailed from Cork on 15th of March, for this port, with a cargo of pork, butter, potatoes, &c., and on the 11th of the following month fell in with the field of ice, by which she very shortly became surrounded. From that period the vessel became the sport of wind, and current, and ice, until, on the 30th April, she was driven (still locked up) towards the land, which it was extremely difficult to distinguish from the immense islands of ice, by which it was bounded.—After considerable exertion, the crew succeeded in getting the vessel through, and found, to their great astonishment, they were on the coast of Greenland, some of the natives having pushed off in their canoes. On the 15th May, they entered a small harbor, called Nennorfelik, about four miles east of Cape Farewell, very much exhausted, from their sufferings in the ice, and, having no fuel or water remaining, received hospitable reception faom the Danish factor there. After some days' delay at this place they proceeded along the shore—which was only clear of ice to the extent of a mile—to the principal port, Julianahabb, in lat. 61, the residence of the governor, who rendered them every assistance in his power.

About two months after their arrival at this port, a Danish brig, which is annually despatched from Copenhagen, with supplies for the factories, arrived there, and Captain Hughes then finding it would be impossible for him to get clear of the coast or the ice without assistance, concluded on remaining till the brig was ready to sail. On the 31st August, he sailed in company with the brig, and arrived at this port on Saturday last, just six months from the time of her leaving Cork. There were two gentlemen passengers on board, Mr. Hickson and Mr. Propham whose friends had long since mourned for their loss. During the vessel's detention at Greenland, the agents at the several Danish factories were ever ready to offer them kind assistance, and the native Esquimaux, who appear a simple, honest race, afforded very acceptable services. While the vessel was coasting along shore, it was frequently found necessary to tow through floating ice, which was done by skin boats, rowed by the native women, who were also very useful in providing articles of clothing for the crew. The winter had set in very severely previous to the departure of the Maria and Eliza.

Insurance Case.—A suit, instituted by Richard Alsop, Esq., of Philadelphia, against the Commercial Insurance Company, of Boston, was decided on Monday, in the Circuit Court of the U. States, held in that city, in favor of the plaintiff. It was upon a policy of Insurance upon property and merchandise in the brig Leonora, bound from Lima to Baltimore, of which nothing has been heard since her departure. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $10,000, with interest on the same for one year. The case, however, of the Maria Eliza, (mentioned in another place in this paper,) driven by fields of ice to Greenland, and occupying six months in effecting her passage from Cork to St. Johns, would seem to require the lapse of a long time before a recovery should be had on the mere presumption of loss.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

SIX EGYPTIAN MUMMIES

In the Diamond, next door to the office of The Pittsburgh Gazette,

THE features of some of these mummies are in perfect expression—the hair of the head preserved as if now living. For the direct purpose of giving visitors, of all descriptions, that wish to see the ancients themselves, and likewise the bodies that were embalmed not less than three thousand years ago, this collection was exhibited to a numerous concourse of visitors, in the city of Philadelphia, for the space of 3 months; and next in Baltimore, in the Museum, for five weeks, where contract was only made for two weeks, and continued for five weeks by request. The inhabitants of this city, it is hoped, will call, and patronize a collection worthy the attention of the curious.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
	other lots, containing about		6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county—and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others—a soil rich and productive—the neighborhood abounding in coal—well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States—In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
